

At Blakley's we care about our employees and customers, treating them as we want to be treated ourselves.

While our Country is navigating COVID-19 we are closely monitoring many sources of official information with the focus on keeping our employees and customers safe, while following CDC guidelines and recommendations.

At this time our retail and corporate locations will remain open and fully operational during our normal business hours. We are communicating with our employees and have shared the CDC's recommendations on handwashing and personal health. We have asked and continue to ask everyone to please stay home if they are sick, or beginning to feel sick. In addition, our managers are aware, and will ensure we have no sick employees working in any division of our Company.

If any of our customers prefer to shop and purchase from our website, we welcome them to contact either of our retail showrooms for the same knowledgeable design and top-rated customer service.

As this situation changes rapidly please be assured Blakley's top priority is the health and safety of our employees and customers.

We thank you for your loyalty, patience, and understanding as we navigate these exceptional circumstances.

Sincerely,
